

Letter to Selfie Example

Dear Selfie,

The year 2016 was not great. My grades weren't good, I got in trouble a lot at home, and I feel like there are a lot of things I could do better in 2017.

I have a few goals for my English Language Arts class. The first one is that I need to read more. I can meet this goal if I read for twenty minutes a night before bed. My second goal for ELA is to get better at spelling. I can do this by playing spelling games on the internet. My last ELA goal is to study before taking a test. I know that my mom will help me, I just need to ask for help more often.

I also have goals for school in general. I want to pass the GA Milestones test in math this year. I can do this if I continue to pay attention in class and do my homework as practice. I also want to do a better job of getting to my classes on time. I know I can do it, I just have to stop socializing in between classes. Finally, I would like to join intramural volleyball. I think this would help me meet new friends and get me ready for the 7th and 8th grade team.

The area I need to work on the most is at home. I need to do a better job of completing my chores on time. I can do this if I start them as soon as I get home from school. My second goal is to hang out with my little sister more. I know that she looks up to me, and I should be nicer to her. My last goal is to not talk back to my mom. Even when I know she is wrong about something, I should still be respectful.

2017 is going to be a great year! I am excited to see what will happen if I meet all of my goals.

Love,

Megan
